

Non-invasive prenatal testing (NIPT)

Join us for an interactive session discussing the clinical utility and importance of non-invasive prenatal testing

Event details

Date:

Time:

Location:

Topics covered

- Prenatal testing approaches
- NIPT methodology and performance
- Microdeletions and NIPT
- Biological considerations and genetic counselling for Harmony® NIPT

Erinna Martin

Clinical Services Manager, Sonic Genetics

Erinna Martin has a background in cytogenetics and has previously held positions including Associate Genetic Counsellor, Project Officer and Medical Liaison in the fields of NIPT and genomics. As Clinical Services Manager for Sonic Genetics, Erinna is responsible for overseeing the provision of high quality genetic information and services to managing clinicians, healthcare professionals and patients. Given her extensive experience in genetics and healthcare, she is well placed to produce material regarding the clinical utility of genetic testing and patient care management, including counselling.

How to RSVP

First name:

Last name:

Address:

Phone number: