Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Intersex Awareness

Increase your understanding of family, friends, clients, or colleagues who identify as Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, or Intersex (LGBTI).

If you're sometimes unsure of how to best communicate with LGBTI people, or want to learn more about their culture and unique needs, this course will help build empathy and understanding as you consider your own lived experiences with gender, sexuality, and possible bias.

Led by a qualified ACON facilitator, this 4-hour, in-person training will introduce you to the people behind the LGBTI acronym through video testimonials of their stories and experiences while expanding your understanding of sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, and sex characteristics through engaging discussion with like-minded people.

THIS 1/2 DAY COURSE WILL INTRODUCE YOU TO:

- LGBTI people and communities.
- The difference between sexual orientation, gender identity, and gender expression.
- Various LGBTI people's lived experiences.
- A number of health impacts caused by social stigma, assumptions, and bias.
- Important legislative actions and defining moments in LGBTI history.
- Useful tips to help you become a stronger ally for LGBTI people.

Recorded interviews allow you to hear community members' experiences first-hand.
