

Rural Clinical Placements...

How to grow your own

This course is about growing your capacity as a clinical supervisor to enhance the learning experiences of students, with the intention that they will return to practice rurally. Student experiences on a rural clinical placement can be a strong influence on intention to practice in a rural location after graduation. We want to help you to build the future rural health workforce by supporting you in your supervisory role.

In this course you will learn about:

- Introduction to supervision
- Enhancing the rural experience
- Creating a best practice clinical learning environment
- Developing cultural awareness and sensitivity
- Challenging conversations
- Self-care for clinicians
