A Dose of eMeds for Rural NSW

Electronic medication management (eMeds) will be rolled out across six local health districts (LHDs) in 2018. The eMeds system will aim to alleviate the lack of information contained about medication changes during a patient's admission. Don't miss your opportunity to have your say and participate in this short 3-minute survey.

Health Workforce Scholarships Program (HWSP)

This program is aimed at health professionals working in medicine, nursing, midwifery, allied health, dentistry and Aboriginal health to increase their skills, capacity and or/scope of practice. Clinicians providing services in a Modified Monash Model (MMM) 3-7 region and not working solely for the NSW government are eligible to apply.

Genomic Testing

Genome.One's Clinical Service recently opened the doors of Australia's first private clinical genomics service, providing genetic counselling and genomic testing to patients Australia-wide. The clinic is accepting doctor referrals for patients from across the country, with consults provided in person, by telephone and via telehealth.
